Massive logging trucks like this may be out of business soon if the truck owners don't get what they want.

Truck owners threaten pullout

If truck owners of the Terrace area don't get a raise in rates before December 1st, it may cause a shut down of local logging.

The due date for licenses on logging trucks is December 1st and members of the North West Loggers Association cannot see their way clear to buy the log hauling licenses. The road conditions and operating costs have put truckers in a disastrous financial position. The major truck suppliers are tired of carrying large accounts due to haulers inability to pay. Some suppliers are in the process of repossessing trucks because they can't carry the load any longer. An association spokesman said Friday that unless the situation is solved immediately, truckers will be letting their machines return to the finance company.

NO UNION FOR OWNERS
Due to the fact that truck owners do not belong to a union, only an association, they cannot go on strike for higher pay. The rate they are working on now, is the same rate as in 1968. Operating costs plus wages to their drivers have gone up to double the cost since that time but no raise has been given to the owners.

If the truckers pull out it could affect the local mills as well. The Association spokesman said if the trucks stop hauling, Pohle and Skeena Forest Products won't be able to get any logs.

The truck owners now have to work a 12 hour day to make their trucks pay, and must run overloads in order to make a living. The spokesman stated that the men want to conform with the law but they also want to make a living.

They also have to pay 17 cents a gallon tax for their fuel. The Provincial tax is for highway miles. The owners are reimbursed 14 cents per gallon for every gallon used off the highway, but this takes 4 months, and they have to enclose paid receipts with the application for reimbursement. The problem is they can't pay the bills without the reimbursement and they can't get the reimbursement unless the bills are paid.

NEED REGULAR RAISE

If the logging industry had given the truckers a ten percent raise each year as members of the I.W.A. have received, the situation would not be where it is now, a spokesman stated.

These rates only affect highway licensed trucks and the licenses are $257.50 for a three month period. Trucks that work off the highway exclusively, are not affected by this licensing fee or the fuel tax.

In 1968 truck owners were making a good living. Since that time they have received no rate increase and as a result they are now verging on the poor house.

Drivers of the trucks on the other hand receive union rates and most of them make $1,000 plus a month.

Members of the North West Loggers Association hope to meet with officials of the major logging companies Monday to discuss a solution to the problem.

MISLEADING REPORTS

Cable 'view' cleared

Misleading reports concerning the contents of cablevision system planned for Terrace and Kitimat in the early spring have been circulating in the two communities. The system as it stands for the Rupert area has been advertised as having eight channels.

The Herald, and others in the area, have received reports that this is misleading advertising, but in checking this out, the report was found to be false. Each subscriber has received a detailed list of what their hook-up will bring them.

A representative of Vancouver cablevision which contacted explained that those used to cablevision in the large cities could have misunderstood the advertisements to mean that the eight channels consisted of live programs as available in Vancouver from the states. But the tri-cities area is too far to make a program of this nature feasible at this time.

PROGRAM OUTLINED

Though a definite program for Terrace and Kitimat cannot be promised at this time, Fred Weber, in way of clarification for those disturbed by rumours submitted the following outline.

1. Full service of CFTK which is approximately 18 hours a day with 50-60 percent color.
2. An education channel (Not school education) which will include travel documentaries, serious music, and items of history to name a few. This channel will be operating at a minimum of five hours a day to begin, with an expected outlook of 12 hours a day.
3. Full service of CTV about 18 hours a day of 95 percent color.
4. The local channel will be on a minimum of four hours a day the first year, but will depend on the cooperation of the public and material available. In Prince Rupert, for instance the library promises a story hour each day. Mr. Weber also hopes for the permission to broadcast public meetings.
5. The movie channel will consist of a movie a day, played twice once at 2:30 and in the evening at 8:30. Hopefully 95 percent color.

6. The weather station will be hooked up to a number of instruments which will issue visual readings 24 hours a day. The audio part of the channel will be the top 100 rock hits.

7. Stock Market report will be issued from another channel with easy listening music in the background.

8. For a connection fee of 10 and no monthly charge an FM stereo music channel will be available 24 hours a day.

The enormous advances being made in the broadcasting system leave the field wide open for cablevision in this area. Mr. Weber, in regards to the above outline, said that this was only the minimum. It can only improve.

Arena loggers

Two men have lost their jobs in the woods because no local firms have agreed to sponsor the machines needed to haul the logs away. The logging operation on behalf of the arena fund has been supported till now by a private local account who pays the men their wages. However, the men who have been working as fallers and skidders have accumulated too many logs for safe working conditions. The work has to stop until someone can be found to offer their equipment to haul the logs away.

There were originally three men involved in the operation who were put on salary when no volunteers could be found. The program which involves falling and hauling, was initiated as a way to contribute to the arena fund.

Out of focus

What seemed like a good idea turned into a comedy of misunderstandings last week between the Herald, a women's organization, and a group of merchants.

Those involved have the Herald's sincere apologies and bewilderment for whatever confusion arose. We like you Terrace.

At election time people feel great. Everyone's an expert on the issues and the candidates. The day comes and it's snowing. You have to get the tires looked at, and take the kids to the library. He has to fix that leaky faucet, the in-laws stop by at dinner time. It's 6 p.m.

"You know George, we really should have voted today." Terrace, we like you but at the last election only 40 percent of the populace showed up at the polls.

There are well founded rumours going around town that the Pan Abode people forgot to renew their city permit for occupancy of the lot on Lakeside. See one license, you've seen them all.

We sometimes hear complaints that the Herald does not adequately cover local events. Remember if we hear from you you'll hear from us, because... We like you Terrace

Jolliffe 'in'

This statement is made on Friday, November 26th, 1971.

"I can say at this time that I intend filing my nomination papers between 10 a.m. and 12 noon Monday. If at that time there is still only the one other candidate for Mayor, I believe the issue before the public will be that the people have a clear choice between two very opposite paths. The candidate opposing me represents the old group that, until two years ago, had control of our town. I intend during my campaign to make it clear to the general public just what has been happening over the last few years, and to present as many facts and figures to the public to help them decide whether they wish to revert back to the old system with the group control, or go forward and continue the progressive policies that I have introduced over the last two years, and I look forward to answering any questions that the people may have about their municipal affairs.

Victor C.G. Jolliffe

One of a kind

One of the major changes in the public school system, in recent years, has been to view the child as an individual with varied needs and abilities. This shift is leading teachers to meet the needs of the individual child and to develop his abilities rather than trying to make the child fit a programme with pre-determined standards.

It is felt by many that the system of reporting to parents by awarding the child a letter grade for his achievement, generalizes many facts of the child's development to a degree that is frequently misleading. It is based upon comparison of an individual child's performance with the 'average' and takes no account of his abilities or disabilities. Letter grades are dedicated to the idea that all children should be able to obtain a certain standard at the same time.

In keeping with the new goals, elementary children in School District No. 88 will be bringing home report cards that have no letter grades. All reporting to parents will be through anecdotal comments and it is hoped that where ever possible these will be augmented by parent-teacher interviews.

Not least among the advantages of this change is the fact that the child with less than average ability is not faced with a succession of failing letter grades throughout his school career.

Hospital board meets

At the regular monthly meeting of the Board of Trustees held on Wednesday, November 24, 1971, the Auxiliary Representative, Mrs. Rita Harvey, announced that $150.00 will be donated again this year to aid in staff education and travel expense. Mrs. Harvey also reported that Christmas trays for the patients will be prepared again this year. This is just one of the many projects carried out by the Auxiliary for the Christmas season. As in past years the Junior Auxiliary, known as the "Candy Strippers", will be decorating Christmas trees in various areas throughout the hospital. The Administrator, Mr. Mills, reported that the Kinette Club has volunteered to supply and decorate a large tree in the main foyer. Your Board of Trustees is very grateful to these groups for their unselfish efforts towards our goal of giving the best possible patient care.

In other business, the Administrator reported on a visit of three officials from the Hospital Service in Victoria. Mr. P. F. Fallon of the Administrative Division, Miss E. Dunford of the Nursing Division, and Miss H. Armstrong of the Dietary Division spent two full days in consultation with the respective departments. This is a regular service recently instituted by the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service to provide advice and recommendations to the various departments of your hospital on a personal visiting basis.

INTENSIVE CARE APPROVED
The administrator also reported that full staffing

Safe driving week December 1-7

Once again the week of Dec. 1-7 has been declared Safe Driving Week across Canada. In our Province of British Columbia and in Terrace and surrounding area in particular I would like to have the sincere co-operation of each and every motorist and pedestrian. With winter months upon us, motorists are reminded that many conditions arise, which you do not normally think of.

For instance, having your vehicle checked over thoroughly is a good place to start. Brakes, tires, steering and lights should be foremost in everyone's mind. In our area motorists must contend with black ice and icy conditions and extra caution should be used.

In the Terrace area, however, the story has been quite different. Up till and including October 1st this year, the area had only had 360 accidents. This may sound like a lot, but last year in the same period there were 470. A reduction of 110 accidents is something to be proud of. You, the motorists are the only ones who can help keep this total down in the remaining days of the year.

Safe Driving Week is for 1 week only, but should be for 52 weeks as statistics continue to mount. Let us all try and make our area safer to drive in.

Driving your vehicle under the influence of alcohol makes a motorist more prone to accidents and with ice and snow covered roads, your chances become greater of being involved in an accident. Pedestrians are reminded that vehicles cannot stop on ice roads and every attempt should be made to look both ways, when crossing a street and allow a motorist plenty of time. Remember it is not always the motorist that is at fault.

Vehicles shall be equipped with the following:
Pneumatic tires in good condition.
Foot brake in good order.
Brake lights, tail lights, signal lights and Head lights all working.
Horn, windshield wipers working.
Steering in good order.

Driving with impaired vision is against the law and how many times do you see motorists driving when they cannot see out any side or rear window, because of ice and snow. We all should remember that stopping distances are tripled when we encounter icy conditions and with this in mind, I remind all motorists to take heed and please do not follow other vehicles so close that you constitute a hazard.

Again I ask the co-operation of you the motorist and you the pedestrian to help your Police in cutting down needless accidents. Using your seat belt is urged as so many injury accidents could be avoided if people would only have worn their seat belts.

Compensation crew coming

Industrial foremen and first line supervisors in the Terrace area will be attending a special one-day safety seminar in the Workmen's Compensation Board's Mobile Training Unit Tuesday, December 7.

The WCB's 90-foot tractor-trailer, which is equipped with film projection equipment, tape facilities, display panels and safety literature is conducting a series of travelling seminars that will take it to six other northern B.C. locations during the next two weeks.

In Terrace, the big blue and white truck will be parked at the Terrace Co-operative Association parking lot.

Motorists stranded in storm

NEW YORK (AP) — Thousands of motorists in the north-eastern and mid-Atlantic states spent Thanksgiving in the homes of strangers or in their cars as record snowfalls halted traffic.

Snow nearly two feet deep covered New York's capital city, Albany. The state's 25,000 employees there were allowed to report to work late today so they could dig out.

The national weather service in New Hampshire called the storm in that state "the worst in 20 years." Up to 18 inches of snow fell.

Mrs. Ralph Lawrence of Franklin, N.H., planned to have 17 guests for dinner. But when they were unable to make the trip from New York, she invited everyone in the neighborhood to her home for turkey.

State police at Milford, Pa., housed more than 100 persons who were stranded in snow-bound cars after a storm dumped 16 inches of snow on that area.

GATHER FOOD

Troopers rounded up food for the hungry travellers.

Trooper John Seleski trudged a mile through the snow to reach a stranded car on Interstate 80, then helped the expectant mother deliver her baby. Both the mother and baby girl were reported doing fine although they were trapped in the car several more hours.

The November record for snow accumulation was smashed in Albany when 22.5 inches fell. The national weather service said the storm would rank among the biggest five in area records.

In nearby Schenectady, police cars were dispatched to take nurses to their hospital duties.

A trio of young boys from Ithaca, N.Y., wandered onto the frozen crust of a swimming pool at their apartment house Sunday, then dropped through the ice into water five or six feet deep. All three drowned.

Population increases

OTTAWA (CP) — Immigration to Canada from Europe continues to drop sharply but the number of arrivals from the United States continues to rise.

Immigration figures released today show an over-all 94,005 arrivals in the first nine months of 1971, compared with 113,323 in the first nine months of last year.

The number from Europe fell to 40,530 from 59,487 a year ago. There were 9,060 arrivals from England, compared to 15,593 in the first three quarters of 1970.

There's a great deal at stake in the Supreme Court of Canada decision about aboriginal rights of Indians.

The case, brought by the Nishga Indians of northwestern B.C., is expected to be settled by the end of the year.

Incredibly, a commissioner appointed by the federal government two years ago to report on Indian land claims has been unable to accomplish anything because his terms of reference did not cover aboriginal rights.

The significance of a settlement should not be lost on Canadians in the light of recent developments in the U.S.

Legislation is on its way through Congress to award compensation to the Natives of Alaska — Indians, Eskimos and Aleuts — 55,000 of whom claim title to much of the state.

The total expenditure in public funds would be astronomical: $500 million direct payments over 12 years plus another $500 million in mineral royalties. In addition the original Alaskans would receive about 40 million acres in land grants.

President Richard Nixon has blessed the scheme, and committee approval has already been obtained in the Senate, so the likelihood of a vast settlement being made is very real.

Such a precedent could have a remarkable effect on events in Canada. It will be interesting to see how Ottawa, which has never been able to settle the most basic problems in Indian affairs, reacts.

—The Vancouver Sun

"Search for a mandate"

Search for a Mandate, the fifth episode in CBC-TV's Tenth Decade series on the Diefenbaker-Pearson era, covers the tumultuous time between the general elections of April 1963 and November 1965 which began and ended with Canadian voters choosing Lester Pearson's Liberals to form a minority government.

It was the time when the Liberal government's 'sixty days of decision' sputtered to a disappointing conclusion, when fledgling Finance Minister Walter Gordon's first budget became the focal point for a concerted Opposition attack, when U.S. President John F. Kennedy was assassinated, and when a series of political scandals kept such names as Banks, Minto and Rivard in the headlines.

Search for a Mandate will be telecast Wednesday, Dec. 1 at 9 p.m. on the CBC network. The troubles that were to plague the new Liberal government began even before the 'sixty days of decision' ended. Walter Gordon brought down his first budget in June — a budget that included a 30 per cent take-over tax on sales of Canadian shares to non-residents. The Opposition reacted immediately, even calling for the finance minister's resignation. To add to the Liberals' woes, it was revealed that Mr. Gordon had used "outside help" in drafting the controversial budget. The CBC documentary then recalls the great flag debate when, after 45 flag committee meetings, the examination of thousands of designs, and a lengthy and often heated debate in the Commons, Canada finally adopted a distinctively Canadian flag.

Prime Minister Pearson's success in fulfilling his promise to give Canada a new flag was marred by a series of scandals that rocked the ship of state. Perhaps the most complex affair was that involving narcotics smuggler Lucien Rivard who was in jail awaiting extradition to the United States. It was alleged that attempts to get Rivard out of jail came from members of the Liberal Party, close to the Cabinet. When an inquiry under Judge Dorion ended, the career of a brilliant Cabinet minister, Justice Minister Guy Favreau, was brought to an abrupt end.

IN SCHOOLS

To reduce staff?

B.C. Teacher's Federation president Adam Robertson has said he had been informed that six school districts are contemplating reductions in their teaching staffs at the end of December as an economy move.

The six districts are Burnaby, Trail, Kimberley, South Peace, Burns Lake and Fort Nelson.

Robertson and the BCTF is strongly opposed to any staff cuts at Christmas, and added that there was no doubt in his mind that the proposed cuts are a result, at least in part, of the provincial government's latest moves to curb spending on education.

He contended that the reason given by some districts for the cuts — smaller enrolments than expected — was not in itself a justification for the staff cuts. He said that the harm done by the disruption of classes would outweigh any money saved by school boards.

"A staff reduction in December entails disruption of on-going school programs. It may entail cancellations of one or more courses a school had committed itself to offer to some of its pupils. At the very least it entails a change of instructors for some courses, transfers of pupils from class to class, and in some cases transfers from school to school.

"This sort of disturbance of the continuity of a program that has been planned on a school-year basis is educationally harmful. Why harm children just to save a few salaries?"

Robertson said school boards should show more faith in the people they represent. They should assume that the people want good schools and good education, and should budget for the amount of money actually needed rather than "supinely accept cutbacks the provincial government is trying to force on them."

The BCTF president also said that terminating a teacher's appointment at the end of December is unfair to that teacher.

"Teachers accept appointments in school districts in the normal expectation of employment for a full school year. Mid-year termination leaves those teachers unexpectedly released at a time when so little hiring is being done by other districts that they are virtually assured of a six-month period of unemployment."

Robertson added that school boards that reduce staff at any time other than the end of a school year violate moral commitments to pupils, parents and teachers.

"Such betrayal of commitments may in rare instances be necessary, but it cannot be condoned where any reasonable alternative exists."

Robertson called on school boards to prepare budgets based on the educational needs of pupils, not "the shortsighted demand of the Minister of Education for arbitrary cutbacks on spending."

CHOOSING CARDS FOR CHRISTMAS

Nancy Greene Raine and the twins choose their UNICEF Greeting Cards for this year, while Paul Ignatieff, Executive Director of UNICEF for Canada, looks on. It has been stated that the 1971 selection is the widest and most diversified ever produced by UNICEF. Proceeds go to help children all over the world. Each box of cards, for instance, can provide enough vaccine to protect 75 children against tuberculosis, or 150 children against smallpox.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

We need your help. As you are probably aware, our UNICEF Greeting Cards are being sold in your area. However, sales have not been up to expectations so far and we would like to see them a lot better, as every dollar counts when millions of children in other countries need so much help.

Enclosed is a photo of Nancy Greene with her two sons, looking over our latest selection of cards. Could you use this in your columns? Also, any further information we can supply about the cards and the great work done by UNICEF will be gladly supplied.

If you do have an opportunity to run this photo, I would very much appreciate having a copy of the paper for our files here.

The store handling the cards in Prince Rupert is Fraser Stores Co. Ltd., 210 3rd Avenue West and our UNICEF worker is Mrs. D.A. Lattimer.

2180 Allin Avenue.

In Terrace, the representative is Della Thompson and cards are on sale at the Super Valu Stores in Terrace and Kitimat.

Many thanks for any help you can give us.

Cordially yours,
G. Douglas Scott,
Chairman, B.C.

Bible today

Where were you when I laid the foundation of the earth? ... Job 38:4

What majestic irony! Job had been acting like a "know-it-all". God put him on the spot with question after question, until at last Job fell to his knees in repentance and total surrender before his Maker and Savior.

And what about us? The point is clear: we must take our place beside Job. For we, too, live in God's world as though it were ours. We exploit creation unmercifully and rob the Creator of His honor.

But we cannot get away with it. God calls our bluff. With question after question He stops us in our tracks until at last the truth gets through to us: "The earth is the Lord's and the fullness thereof." (Psalm 24:1)

BY S. JOHNSON

If you have never taken active part in a demonstration, then you have missed a rare, but rewarding, experience in life. When I was visiting Stewart, a few hours before the Amchitka Bomb was scheduled for blast off, we heard many young, musical voices outside the house; rising into the pure mountain air, crying: "We want life! We want life!"

It took a second or so to figure what all the fuss was about, as I scrambled right foot into left rubber, and grabbed the camera. I was out the door in a flash, clad like a mountain goat escapee, with wet hair slapping against my face after a recent washing bout. The snow was falling silently, and the only witness (I hope), to my clandestine race against time. It was somewhere near the end of the main street that I finally caught up with twenty-five demonstrators, who suddenly stopped, raised their "Stop-the-Bomb" signs, and turned to look me squarely in the eye. It was apparent they were delighted by my presence, and quite willing to pose for some candid shots of themselves from every angle. Of course, I had immediately assured them of my complete empathy with their cause, so that no misunderstanding might develop. After all, there were twenty-five of them confronting one of me, an "outsider" at that. I added, diplomatically, that my Terrace readers would certainly be interested to learn of their protest (likely the only protest Stewart has ever witnessed).

So we were united in a common bond of animosity that might have shaken the ingrown toenails of our U.S. neighbours to the south, had they been present.

Stumbling awkwardly, I pursued these enthusiastic members of society as they retraced their path through downtown Stewart. When we arrived, your's truly out of breath - they were just catching their second wind, at the opposite corner of town; their school teacher, who had another commitment it seemed, nominated "me" to head the group to their dispersal point.

It was then, during the next two blocks of fervent marching and chanting, that I realized the great honour bestowed upon me. Here I was, a complete stranger (otherwise known as the Pied Piper of Stewart), guiding the new generation of fellow Canadians in a genuine protest against something I felt very strongly about myself. Deeply moved by thoughts of our great Canadian heritage, I was proud in that moment to play a small part in a demonstration; to join the ranks of our future role-makers; and to make a brief speech on the value of "peaceful Methods of objection, before we went our separate ways. Off in the distance I could almost hear the indistinct flapping sound of an eagle's wing.

Boston's defeat over Flyers personal victory for Bobby

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
If Bobby Orr's whereabouts was in doubt, the superb Boston Bruin defenceman surfaced Thursday night in a 4-2 win over Philadelphia Flyers in the only scheduled National Hockey League action.

The high-scoring blueliner had been loitering about midway in the pack of top 10 scorers in recent weeks. But a goal, the winner, and three assists against the Flyers put him in the leadership race, currently headed by teammate Phil Esposito.

Esposito has 37 points to Orr's 36.

But what is probably uppermost in the minds of Boston fans, Bruin management in particular, is the whereabouts of right winger Ken Hodge.

The solid 220-pounder can't be missed in the Boston lineup, stretching six-feet two inches above the ice surface. It was evident Thursday night when he wrestled off the Philadelphia defence while Orr sped in to recover his own rebound and punch home the winner behind Flyer goalie Doug Favell to break a 2-2 tie.

LOOK FOR GOALS
The impatient Bruins fans, however, have been overlooking Hodge as a physical asset to the team and are looking to the scoring machine that potted 43 goals last year and ran his point totals to 105, fourth best in the league behind team-mates Esposito, Orr and Johnny Bucyk.

The boo-birds were at it again Thursday night at Boston Garden where little else is appreciated but the word "score."

Hodge, a 27-year-old native of Birmingham, England who grew up in Toronto, ranks third among Bruins in points, with 18, but has managed only four goals in 21 games.

A year ago he had 12 goals and 17 assists and ranked third in the NHL behind the current leaders.

His inability to find the target this year has had him in the Bruins' doghouse on a couple of occasions when coach Tom Johnson decided a rest on the bench might help the over-all Boston offence which, aside from Esposito and Orr, had been sputtering.

BACK IN RACE
Thursday's win put the Beantowners right back in the race for the East Division leadership with 31 points, one fewer than they had in leading the division a year ago and one behind the current leaders, New York Rangers, who have played one less game.

Their over-all production lags behind the awesome machine of 1970-71. To date the Bruins have scored 81 goals compared with 91 a year ago after 21 games.

But what really shows to Boston's advantage is its defensive mark. This year the goaltending tandem of Eddie Johnson and Gerry Cheevers has allowed the opposition 43 goals, best in the East, against 54 at the same stage last season.

It was the 35-year-old Johnson's turn to sparkle against Philadelphia, just as Cheevers did in a 2-1 win over the Flyers Wednesday night.

"We were very lucky to win this game," coach Johnson admitted after the holiday triumph. "Philadelphia actually outplayed us."

"The difference was we got great goaltending. We were fortunate at times. They could have had some goals, but Eddie came through for us."

JOHNSTON SHINES
Johnson was spectacular on many of his 29 saves, including several key stops after Orr had put Boston ahead 3-2 on an unassisted goal at 11:25 of the third period. Philadelphia applied the pressure until Wayne Cashman added an insurance goal into an open net with 19 seconds remaining.

"Great goal-tending, just great," Johnson repeated. "It was great both nights, and we had to have it to win. Eddie J. and Cheesy got us four big points."

Major curling threats emerge
VANCOUVER (CP) — Glen Pierce of Burnaby, B.C. and Gary Merrett of Duncan, B.C., emerged as major threats in the $14,000 British Columbia Centennial Totem Bontspiel following Wednesday's second-round play.

Only 12 of the original 168 rinks remained unbeaten and in contention for the championship as the five-day bontspiel entered its third day today.

Pierce and Merrett ran their records to 4-0 with three wins each in the second round.

Pierce won 9-6 over Peter Madill of Richmond, B.C., 8-3 over Ed Muloch of North Vancouver and took only six ends to stop Tommy Holmes, also of North Vancouver, 8-1 in the last draw.

Merrett had a tougher time with 5-4 wins over Ed Dalke and Clem McCloskey, both of Vancouver and both previously unbeaten. He then downed Lyle Gordon of Esquimalt, B.C., 9-4 in the final draw.

In the game with Gordon, Merrett held a 4-2 lead after five ends but had stretched his margin to 8-4 after eight.

Other rinks with 4-0 records included Andy Kelvin and Ozzie Isfeld, both of North Vancouver.

Dallas Cowboys tighten their grasp

Dallas Cowboys have tightened their grasp on the National Conference East lead and, by doing so, have thrown the West into an even wilder three-way scramble.

The Cowboys beat Los Angeles Rams 23-21 in one of Thursday's National Football League games—Detroit Lions topped Kansas City Chiefs 32-21 in the other—to open a one-game edge over Washington in the NFC East.

That also sent the Rams skidding back into a virtual dead-end with San Francisco 49ers in the West—and Atlanta Falcons are only half a game behind the front-runners.

The 49ers can take sole possession of first with a victory over New York Jets Sunday and the Falcons can stay in the race by turning back Minnesota Vikings.

Sunday's other games have Washington at Philadelphia, St. Louis at the New York Giants, New Orleans against Green Bay at Milwaukee, New England at Buffalo, San Diego at Cincinnati, Denver at Pittsburgh, Cleveland at Houston and Baltimore at Oakland. On Monday night, Chicago visits Miami.

"I feel sore but happy," Cowboys quarterback Roger Staubach said after scrambling for 33 yards and passing for 176 more. "We won it and it was a big win."

His 11-yard fourth-quarter scamper set up Duane

Thomas's game-winning five-yard touchdown run.

Staubach rifled touchdown passes of 51 yards to Bob Hayes and 21 to Lance Alworth and Isaac Thomas steamed 89 yards with a kickoff return for the Cowboys' other scores.

Roman Gabriel, the Rams' quarterback who struck for touchdown passes of 33 yards to Bob Klein and two yards to Pat Curran, passed for 234 yards but suffered an injury.

The Rams held a 14-7 lead heading toward halftime but, instead of increasing it, they blew it when a fake field goal backfired.

Roaring curling game remembered by few

MONCTON, N.B. (CP) — A lot of things can happen to a man on his way to a curling rink but Hedley Bissett can remember a few things about the game that some present-day curlers would never accept.

Bissett, who is 78, has been a participant in the "roaring game" since 1907 when "there wasn't anything else to do."

"I was 14 and going to high school, so I just took up the game," he said in an interview here where he acted as a chairman of the 12th annual Monctonian Bontspiel.

Along with the travelling in those days was the chore of having to lug one's curling stones with him, Bissett recalled.

"When we went by rail for out-of-town games, we'd put the stones on the cow-catcher at the front of the engine," he said. "If we couldn't take our stones by train, we'd send them by truck."

HARD FINDING TIME
Modern curlers find one of their major obstacles in the game is finding time from personal business to play and the occasional obstruction on the ice that changes the direction and intent of a play.

Bissett remembered a time when just getting to or from a match was dangerous during the First World War.

After one particular bontspiel in Fredericton, Bissett and his crew found themselves spending a day in Fredericton Junction, because a bridge had been blown up by saboteurs.

Canada birdies in China

OTTAWA (CP) — An invitation from China to send top Canadian badminton players there for a tour was accepted Thursday by the Canadian Badminton Association.

The invitation, from the All China Sports Federation, was accepted by D. Allan FitzPatrick of Montreal, CBA president.
